Foreword

Information provided by the All-India Educational Surveys, conducted by the NCERT, have been widely utilised for the formulation of policies for educational development. Their strongest point is that they have all been census surveys, and not just based on samples.

The Fourth All-India Educational Survey was conducted with 30 September, 1978 as the date of reference. The findings of this Survey were utilised in the formulation of the National Policy on Education (1986).

The Fifth All-India Educational Survey, which provides data as on 30 September, 1986, is comparatively more comprehensive than the Fourth Survey. In this survey three questionnaires, namely Village Information Form, Urban Information Form and School Information Form were canvassed. Through the first two of these forms, data were collected from all the villages and all the urban areas on the availability of schooling facilities. Data have also been collected regarding the existing facilities for pre-primary education, non-formal education and adult education. Through the School Information Form, data were collected from all the schools on students, teachers, buildings, facilities, equipment, etc. As in the previous surveys, the data were first compiled at the block/tehsil level, on the basis of which the district level tables were prepared. Next, the preparation of the State level tables was done from district tables. Finally at the NCERT, national tables of the survey were prepared from the State Tables.

The survey data are likely to be of immediate use in the formulation of the Eighth Five Year Plan for Educational Development. The information collected will also be found handy for micro-planning exercises at the block and district levels. Above all, the data will be found to be help in the implementation of National Policy on Education (1986).

As the preparation of the main report of the Fifth All-India Educational Survey is likely to take some time, this preliminary report, containing a few important tables, is being brought out for the benefit of various users of the survey data.

I must express my profound thanks to the State Departments of Education for their cooperation and help in this venture, and more specifically to the State Survey Officers and other survey staff for having accomplished the arduous task of collecting and compiling an enormous amount of data.

The project was launched and implemented under the leadership of Prof. A.B.L. Srivastava, Prof. H.S. Srivastava, and Prof. K.N. Hiriyaniah. Prof. Hiriyaniah, undoubtedly made the most significant contribution along with Mr. S.M. Bhargava, Dr. C.L. Kaul and other members of the faculty. The responsibility of preparing this report was, however, shouldered by Prof. A.B.L. Srivastava and Shri S.M. Bhargava and they deserve our appreciation for their commendable contribution.

I am confident that the vital information contained in this document will be found to be of use to educational planners and administrators and to other users of the survey data.

Introduction

There has been tremendous growth in educational facilities at all levels of education during the last 40 years of Independence. The growth in enrolment and schooling facilities at the primary and post-primary stages of education was the result of the concerted Government effort to implement the Directive Principles of the Constitution to provide free and compulsory education to all the children up to the age of 14. The expansion at other stages was a consequence of the growing public demand for education in all sections of the society. For proper planning of schooling facilities at the grassroot level, and for ensuring a balanced growth in all areas, rural and urban, it was felt that the educational statistics collected annually by the Government were not adequate. In order to meet the need for additional data which could be provided expeditiously, it became necessary to have All-India Educational (AIE) Survey, which was conducted by the then Ministry of Education and Social Welfare in 1957, and after that the Second, Third and Fourth AIE Surveys were conducted by National Council of Educational Research and Training in 1965, 1973 and 1978, respectively.

The First AIE Survey conducted in 1957 had the limited objective of enumerating all the rural habitations with and without educational facilities, particularly at the elementary stage. On the basis of the survey, recommendations were made for planning and location of new schools. The Second AIE Survey conducted in 1965 had wider scope and objectives as compared to the First Survey. Its main aim was not only to assess how far the recommendations of the First Survey were implemented, but also to provide information for the planning of new educational institutions. The Third AIE Survey, conducted in 1973, was much more comprehensive in scope. The survey covered all levels and types of education ranging from pre-primary to higher education, as well as educational administration, vocational and technical education and cultural statistics. While the responsibility for the survey in School Education and allied areas was assigned to the National Council of Educational Research and Training, the responsibility for other areas was entrusted to other specialised agencies like the University Grants Commission (for higher education), Institute of Applied Manpower Research (for technical and vocational education) and National Institute of Educational Planning and Administration (for educational administration). The Fourth AIE (1978) was taken up as a mini-survey confined only to school education. This survey provided data on schooling facilities in rural areas as well as on buildings, furniture, equipment, etc. in the different types of schools.

The need for another AIE Survey was felt in 1986 when the National Policy on Education was being formulated. Consequently, the Fifth AIE Survey was undertaken with 30 September, 1986 as the date of reference. Like the previous surveys, the main purpose was to take stock of the conditions obtaining in schools and the facilities available for regular school education, non - formal education and adult education in rural and urban areas. This survey particularly aimed at providing the data-base for implementation of various programmes for improvement of the quality of education, such as Operation Blackboard. The specific objectives of this survey were as follows :

- i. To assess the present position of educational facilities at various school stages, in respect of coverage of school-going population; the distance to be covered by a child to reach the school; enrolment in general, and

- of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe children and girls in particular.
- ii. To assess the availability of physical facilities like school buildings, playgrounds, drinking water within the school, furniture, facilities for medical check-up, and other equipment, incentive schemes and the number of beneficiaries.
 - iii. To assess the position of inputs like blackboards and chalks, libraries, laboratories, textbook banks, etc.
 - iv. To know about the academic and professional qualifications of working teachers with special reference to the teaching of science and mathematics, and to determine attrition rates in the teaching profession.
 - v. To prepare block maps showing habitations, existing educational facilities, and proposed provision of facilities in a planned manner over a period of time.

To fulfil these objectives three questionnaires, viz. Village Information Form, Urban Information Form and School Information Form, were developed to collect the relevant data. Specifically, the following items were covered through these questionnaires in the survey.

- a. Enumeration of every distinct habitation.
- b. Enumeration of every primary, upper primary, secondary and higher secondary / senior secondary school / intermediate / pre-university / junior college.
- c. Habitations with and without educational facilities for primary, upper primary, secondary and higher secondary stages.
- d. In case of habitations without schooling facilities for these stages, the distance at which these facilities are available and also habitations under various population slabs.
- e. Schooling facilities for various school stages in habitations predominantly populated by Scheduled Castes.
- f. Schooling facilities for various school stages in habitations predominantly populated by Scheduled Tribes.
- g. Proportion of Scheduled Caste population in villages and schooling facilities available there.

- h. Proportion of Scheduled Tribe population in villages and schooling facilities in them.
- i. Age-wise enrolment of pupils at various school stages (classwise).
- j. Age-wise enrolment of pupils belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes.
- k. Qualifications of teachers (stage-wise) working in schools.
- l. Academic inputs available in the schools relevant to various stages of education.
- m. Mobility of teachers during a specific period.
- n. Qualifications of teachers teaching science and teachers having science qualifications.
- o. Availability of vocational courses and the vocational courses provided in these schools at +2 stage.
- p. Workshop facilities and on-the-job training.
- q. Qualifications of teachers teaching mathematics at the secondary and higher secondary stages.

The survey was organised by the National Council of Educational Research and Training with the help and cooperation of Education Departments of different States and Union Territories. The required data was collected from all the villages, all the urban areas, and all the recognised schools in the country. The Department of Measurement, Evaluation, Survey and Data Processing in the NCERT was responsible for developing the questionnaires, providing guidance and training to the staff appointed for the survey work in different States and Union Territories, and helping them in checking and tabulating the data at the block, district and State levels. Finally, the State tables, received from the different States and Union Territories, were used for compiling the national tables of the survey.

It is hoped that the survey data will be used for educational planning not only at the national level, but also at the State and district levels. The data will be particularly helpful in formulation of the Eighth Five Year Plan and in planning and implementation of the projects for improvement of educational facilities envisaged in NPE-1986 and Programme of Action based on it. The survey data should also help the States in decentralised educational planning at the district and block levels, which would include school mapping.

It will take some time before the main report of the survey is ready. In order to provide the important statistics obtained from the survey, it was decided to bring out this preliminary report for the benefit of educational Planners, Administrators and other users of the survey data. This report contains State-wise demographic information, information on educational facilities in rural areas, number of institutions at the primary, upper primary, secondary and higher secondary stages, number of children enrolled in schools in different classes, quality of school buildings, number of teachers and availability of certain other facilities in schools. Information on the students belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes has also been reported separately. In respect of teachers, information has been provided on the proportion of female teachers and teachers belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. Wherever possible comparison has been made with the data of the Fourth All-India Educational Survey (1978).

Main Findings

2.1 DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION

Table-1 gives the number of districts, blocks /Taluks/ Tehsils, villages, rural habitations and urban areas. The table also gives statewise population according to 1981 census and the estimated population of the states and the country as on 30.9.86. The total estimated population of the country was 784069 thousand including 593520 thousand (75.70%) in the rural areas. The percentage increase for the period 1981-86 worked out to be 17.86%. The population in the rural areas was estimated at the habitation level and then aggregated to get rural population of the blocks, districts and States. The population in urban areas was estimated on the basis of the latest estimates available and using the population growth rate of the state for the decade 1971-81. There were 578682 inhabited villages having 979065 habitations. On an average there were 1.69 habitations per inhabited village.

APPENDIX I

Fifth All - India Educational Survey

VILLAGE INFORMATION FORM

Instructions for filling the form

The present educational survey, fifth in the series, is being conducted throughout the country. The Village Information Form seeks information relating to population, schooling and other educational facilities in the village.

Village means 'the revenue village'

Please read carefully the following instructions before filling the form.

1. In case the village has a recognised school in it, the form may be filled by the headmaster of the school in consultation with the village officer/patwari. If the village has more than one school, the form may be filled by the headmaster of the school which has the highest school class. However, if the village has no school in it, the form may be filled by the headmaster of the school located in the nearest village, in consultation with the village officer/patwari concerned.
2. (i) This survey covers recognised schools only.
(ii) Recognised schools include government, municipal, panchayat samiti schools and private schools that have been recognised by the competent authority.
3. Information in respect of all the items has to be given as on 30-9-1986.
4. Items 1 to 6 have been filled already.
5. Item 8 : Check, if the village had an abnormal increase or decrease in population in relation to the figures given in the 1981 census. If so, give reasons for the same.
6. Item 10 : Information has to be provided separately for each habitation in the village.
 - (i) A habitation is a distinct cluster of houses existing in a compact and contiguous manner with a local name. A village may have one or more than one habitation, except when it is a deserted/bechirag one.
 - (ii) Any habitation with population less than 10 in hilly/desert/sparsely populated areas or with population less than 25 in plain areas may not be given a separate status of a 'habitation' and its population be included in the nearest habitation of the same village. But this condition will not apply to a village with one habitation only.
 - (iii) In columns 4 to 6, if a habitation has more than one school, provide information schoolwise according to classes taught. For example, if a habitation has three schools; two of them having classes I to V and the third one has classes I to X, the information against the habitation may be entered as follows :

Col. 4	Col. 5	Col. 6
I	V	2
I	X	1

- (iv) In columns 7 to 14, provide information only when there is no school located within the habitation concerned at each stage of education. For example, in a habitation, there is a primary school only, the columns 7 to 8 will be left blank. However, since the habitation has no schooling facility at upper primary (middle), secondary and higher secondary stages, columns 9 to 14 have to be filled in order to know where and at what distance such facilities exist.
- (v) The distance between a school and a habitation is the convenient walking distance between the school and the central point of the habitation.
7. Item 11 : (i) In this item, provide information pertaining to centres for non-formal education run by Government/Local bodies, as well as by voluntary agencies/industries, which cater to children of school-going age only. Do not include adult education/functional literacy centres, etc. Also ensure that no child enrolled in the formal school system is included in this item so that duplication of enrolment in these two systems is avoided.
(ii) A centre for non-formal education meant for both primary and upper primary levels is to be counted at both the levels.
8. Item 12 : In this item, provide information pertaining to adult education/functional literacy centres run by Government/Local bodies as well as by voluntary agencies/industries. Please note that non-formal education centres (included in item 11) should not be included in this item.
9. Item 13 : A school catering to children with different disabilities is to be counted as a separate institution for each one of the disabilities.
10. Item 14 : In this item, provide information about all the villages touching the boundary of this village.
11. Item 15 : In this item, all recognised and unrecognised institutions catering to pre-primary education are to be included.
