The mean temperature falls steadily between November and middle of January but humidity continues to be high. In February, temperature begins to rise and in May, monsoon is occasionally experienced when Cyclonic storms form near the head of the Bay. With the commencement of the south-west monsoon which generally occurs in the later half of June humidity increases to 90 percent of saturation, while heavy cloud in the sky and rainfall are of daily occurrences. The average annual rainfall is 1673 millimetres and the maximum rainfall is experienced in between July and September.

The most important industry in the district is the Textile industry.

Following places may be mentioned as the places of interest in the district.

Ganga Sagar—The great bathing festival of the district is known as Ganga Sagar which is held at southern end of Sagar Island on the day of Makara Sankranti in January. It attracts an immense number of pilgrims, who believe that by bathing at this sacred spot, they wash away their sins.

Palabari Joynagar—The Shrine of Radhaballabh at Joynagar is visited by a large number of pilgrims during the Dol festival in the month of Phalgun. Close to the temple is a Kadamba tree which during the festival is said to yield cone flower in honour of God Krishna.

(IV)

This is looked upon as supernatural phenomenon as the rainy months of July and August are the season in which the tree flowers.

Basra

- Gazisaheb's Mela, a religious gathering is held in later part of May or in the early part of June at Basra close to the station of that name on the Canning branch of the Eastern Railway.

Dakshin Barasat

- It is a village in Joynagar police station of Sadar Sub-division, situated on the bank of Adiganga, and old channel of the Ganges. The village contains a temple of Kali and Shrine dedicated to the God Adyamahesh. Three "Melas" are held here.

(1) The first on the last day of Chaitra in the bazar near Kali's temple. (2) The second on the first day of Baishakh in the Adyamahesh bazar and (3) the last in April in honour of sannyasi named Achalananda Thirtha Swami, who was the Guru or spiritual preceptors of Raja Surendra Narayan Dev Bahadur of the Sovabazar family of Calcutta.

(V)

- Fraserganj — It is an island in the extreme south of the Diamond Harbour Sub-division. It is bounded on the north and west by the Pattibunia Khalal and east by the Sattarmukhi river and Pakuriaber Khal and on the south by the Bay of Bengal. The place is now an attractive tourist centre of the state.
