And Other Issues Related to Elementary Education

An Introductory Note

The Constitution (86th Amendment) Act, 2002

The Constitution (86th Amendment) Act, 2002, notified on 13th December, 2002, seeks to make the following three changes in the Constitution:

- In Part III (“Fundamental Rights”), add the following new article:

“21A. Right to Education

The State shall provide free and compulsory education to all children of the age of six to fourteen years in such manner as the State may, by law, determine.”

- In Part IV (“Directive Principles of State Policy”), replace the existing Article 45 (“Provision for Free and Compulsory Education for Children”), with the following:

“45. Provision for Early Childhood care and Education to Children below the age of Six Years

The State shall endeavour to provide early childhood care and education for all children until they complete the age of six years.”

- In Article 51A (“Fundamental Duties”), after clause (j), add a new clause (k) as follows:

“51A Fundamental Duties

It shall be the duty of every citizen of India:

...(k) who is a parent or guardian to provide opportunities for education to his child or, as the case may be, ward between the age of six and fourteen years.”

Section 1(3) of the above Amendment Act provides that “It shall come into force from such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint". This notification has not yet been issued pending enactment of the consequential legislation envisaged in the above Art. 21A.

2. Constitution of C.A.B.E. Committee

In the light of the deliberations which took place in the first meeting of the reconstituted Central Advisory Board of Education (C.A.B.E.) held on 10-11 August, 2004, a Committee of C.A.B.E. was constituted vide Order dated 8.9.04 of the Ministry of Human Resource Development with the following terms of reference:

“(a) To suggest a draft of legislation envisaged in Art. 21-A of the Constitution, and

(b) To examine other issues related to elementary education for achieving the objective of free and compulsory basic education.”

The Committee was expected to “give its recommendations within six months from the date of its constitution”, and NIEPA was to provide it necessary secretarial assistance.

Member-Secretary of the Committee was changed vide Order dated 18.10.04 of the Ministry of HRD, and its membership was expanded vide Order dated 2.3.05 to include three new members. The Committee’s tenure was extended vide Ministry’s Order dated 12.05.05, up to 30th June, 2005.

3. Course of Committee’s Deliberations

The Committee held a total of five meetings – on 22.11.04, 24.12.04, 12.3.05, 16.4.05, and 5.6.05. In its second meeting dated 24.12.04, a Sub-Committee was constituted under the Chairmanship of Prof A K Sharma to suggest a draft of the essential provisions of the proposed Bill. This Sub-Committee met several times during January-February, 2005, and the first draft of essential provisions suggested by it was discussed in the third meeting dated 12.3.03 of the full Committee. The Sub-Committee had invited selected representatives of certain non-government schools' organizations and teachers' unions for a discussion in one of its meetings held in February, 2005, and they were invited as Special Invitees to the third meeting dated 12.3.05 of the Committee as well.

The Sub-Committee revised the draft in the light of the comments received in the above meeting dated 12.3.05, and this second draft of essential provisions was discussed in the fourth meeting dated 16.4.05 of the Committee. In this meeting, another Sub-Committee, headed by the Chairperson of the Committee himself, was constituted to give final shape to the draft Bill. The revised draft prepared by this Sub-Committee was discussed in the fifth (and last) meeting dated 5.6.05 of the Committee, wherein after detailed discussion, the Committee authorized the Chairperson to finalise the Committee's recommendations/Report in the light of the views expressed by the members, and submit it to the Chairman, C.A.B.E.

This Report has been prepared and is being submitted accordingly.

Primary responsibility for implementation of the Act would be that of State Governments, and it was therefore only appropriate that Education Ministers of five States (AP, MP, Bihar, Orissa, and Meghalaya) were nominated as members of the Committee. However, Bihar ceased to have an Education Minister after imposition of President's Rule there on 6th March, 2005. Also, none of the other four State Education Ministers could attend the last meeting of the Committee held on 5th June, 2005.

Many members of the Committee strongly felt that its recommendations should be finalized only after inviting comments and suggestions from the public on its draft - through regional consultation meetings and the Internet. However, this could not be done due to paucity of time.

4. Nature of the Right to Education

Right to Education, which Art. 21A seeks to confer, is different from other fundamental rights enshrined in our Constitution, in that the other rights are mostly in the nature of 'protective' rights (i.e. which guarantee certain kinds of protection against the State to every citizen) while the Right to Education mandates certain pro-active action on the part of the State vis-à-vis every child of the country who is in the 6-14 years age group.

While Education has become a Fundamental Right, other comparable entitlements, e.g. the Right to Food/Nutrition, Health, Clean Drinking Water, Clean Environment, Work/Employment and Social Security, are yet to be expressly conferred that status in the Constitution.

It also needs to be noted that while the earlier Fundamental Rights had no or insignificant financial implications for the State, the Right to Education has major financial implications, and therefore the issue of the State's economic capacity would need to be borne in mind while fleshing out this Right through the legislation envisaged in Art. 21A.

5. Principles which have guided the Committee's work

In formulating provisions of the above legislation, the Committee has been guided by the following basic considerations:

- i. Right to Education should imply that every child has a right to be (a) provided full-time education of satisfactory and equitable quality in a formal school which satisfies at least certain essential norms, and (b) enabled to complete elementary education.

It may however be pointed out that the National Policy on Education 1986 (as modified in 1992) did envisage the alternative modality of non-formal education also for achieving universal elementary education. For instance, its para 5.8 stated that "the Non-formal Education Programme, meant for school dropouts, for children from habitations without schools, working children and girls who cannot attend whole-day schools, will be strengthened and enlarged”.

- ii. Right to Education also implies that it is the State’s obligation to remove whatever obstacles – social, economic, academic, linguistic, cultural, physical, etc. – prevent children from effectively participating in and completing elementary education of satisfactory quality.
- iii. Right to Education must be seen not merely as a right for its own or the individual child’s sake, but also as an instrument of promoting other constitutional objectives, e.g. equality, justice, democracy, secularism, social cohesion, etc.
- iv. Provision of Free and Compulsory Education of satisfactory quality to children from weaker sections is the responsibility not merely of Schools run or supported by the State, but also of Schools which are not dependent on State funds. Schools of the latter kind also need to provide education to such children at least to the extent of 25% of their intake. This is necessary not merely as part of the social responsibility of such schools, but equally so that their ‘fee-paying’ students study in a socially more representative and diverse environment, and develop into socially sensitive citizens.

Other provisions regarding unaided schools would, however, be viewed as introducing a far more regulatory regime than has hitherto been the case, and amounting to undue/excessive regulation of private initiative in education.

- v. One major reason why it has not been possible to universalize elementary education all these years is the dysfunctionality of the delivery system. The Committee has therefore attempted to formulate a number of provisions for the proposed legislation, essentially aimed at greater decentralization and accountability, so that the delivery system is able to rise to the challenge.
- vi. Although its terms of reference were confined to free and compulsory education for children between the ages of 6-14 years, the Committee has considered the main programme for Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE), viz., Integrated Child Development Services (ICDS), and proposed convergence to the extent possible. While ECCE will continue to be provided (in the State sector) through Anganwadis under ICDS, the Committee has recommended that additional pre-school facilities be provided to children in the age group of 5-6 years wherever necessary.

6. Recommendations of the Committee restricted to “essential provisions” of the draft Bill

Based on the above principles, draft of the essential provisions of a “Right to Education Bill, 2005” is enclosed. In the available time, the Committee could discuss only these essential provisions.

In addition to the above essential provisions, the complete Bill will have several other provisions of consequential, ancillary and incidental nature, such as details regarding the National Commission for Elementary Education (e.g., term of office, conditions of service and pay and allowances of Chairperson and Members, powers of the Commission and procedure for transaction of its business, and funds, accounts and audit, etc), Courts competent to try offences under the Act, power to remove difficulties, etc.

These supplementary provisions can be drafted once CABE takes a view on the recommended essential provisions.

7. Central v/s State Legislation

Education being in the Concurrent List, Parliament as well as State legislatures are competent to legislate in pursuance of Art. 21A. Many States already have laws on free and compulsory education, albeit they pre-date the 86th Amendment. Once a central legislation is enacted in pursuance of Art. 21A, the position of existing State laws on free and compulsory education would be governed by the provisions of Art. 254(1), i.e. their provisions would become void to the extent they are repugnant to the provisions of the Central legislation. However, it would be possible to enact State amendments to the Central legislation, or enact fresh State laws on the subject, after following the procedure laid down in Art. 254(2).

8. Financial Aspects

8.1 Background

Para 11.4 of Part XI (“Resources and Review”) of the National Policy on Education, 1986 (as revised in 1992), had stated as follows:

“The National Policy on Education, 1968, had laid down that the investment on education be gradually increased to reach a level of 6 per cent of the national income as early as possible. Since the actual level of investment has remained far short of that target, it is important that greater determination is shown now to find the funds for the programmes laid down in this Policy. While the actual requirements will be computed from time to time on the basis of monitoring and review, the outlay on education will be stepped up to ensure that during the Eighth Five Year Plan and onwards it will uniformly exceed 6 per cent of the national income.”

The National Common Minimum Programme of the UPA Government had said the following in regard to allocation of resources for Education:

“The UPA Govt. pledges to raise public spending in Education to at least 6% of GDP with at least half of this amount being spent on primary and secondary sectors. This will be done in phased manner.”

President’s Address to Parliament on 7.6.04, soon after the last Lok Sabha elections, had also, inter alia, stated the following:

“21. India’s greatest resource is its people. The full potential of our human resources has yet to be effectively utilized. High priority will, therefore, be accorded to education. The Government will aim at increasing public spending on education so as to ultimately reach at least 6% of GDP, with half the amount earmarked for primary and secondary education. A cess will be proposed on all central taxes to finance the commitment to universalize access to quality basic education. A National Commission on Education will be set up to allocate resources and monitor programmes.”

In 2003-2004, total government outlay on elementary education was Rs 47,118 crores, which amounted to roughly 2% of GDP. Share of Central and State governments in the total outlay was in the ratio of about 12:88 (Analysis of Budgeted Expenditure on Education 2001-02 to 2003-04, Ministry of HRD, 2004). Estimated yield of the 2% Education Cess (imposed in 2004-05) is Rs 6975 crores in 2005-06, and the consequentially enhanced Central Plan allocation for Elementary Education is Rs 12242 crores, which would represent roughly 20-25 percent of the total government outlay on elementary education in the current financial year (as compared to about 12% in 2003-04).

8.2 Tentative Estimation of Financial Implications of Committee's Recommendations by NIEPA

The Committee had requested NIEPA to do an exercise to estimate financial implications of the recommended provisions of the draft Bill, upto the end of the XI Plan period, i.e. upto 2011-12. A Note prepared by NIEPA in response to this request is annexed as Volume II of this Report. On the assumption that 2006-07 would be the first year of implementation of the Act, NIEPA has worked out financial estimates for the period, 2006-12, in four alternative scenarios, based on different assumptions regarding Pupil-Teacher Ratio (PTR) and Teacher salary. Details of the four scenarios and estimated financial implications of each, for the above six year period, are given below:

Scenario	Description	Total Estimated Cost for 2006-12 (Rs Crores)	Figure in Col.3 as % of GDP <sup>1</sup>
1	PTR = 35; Teacher salary as per KVS scales	4,36,459	1.51
2	PTR = 35; Teacher salary as per average State scales	3,93,307	1.36
3	PTR = 40; Teacher salary as per KVS scales	3,46,299	1.20
4	PTR = 40; Teacher salary as per average State scales	3,21,196	1.11

NIEPA 's estimates are tentative in nature, and are based on various assumptions regarding cost/expenditure norms, and progression of various interventions like mainstreaming of out-of school children, appointment of teachers, construction of buildings, etc. Further, they do not include estimates of financial implications of entitlements which an appropriate government may prescribe as part of "free education" under Clause 2(1)(m)(ii) of the recommended Bill, except to the extent of giving free textbooks and uniforms to 75% and 50%, respectively, of the enrolled children. NIEPA's estimates would have to be firmed up as the draft Bill assumes a more final shape after discussion in CABE.

As per the exercise done by NIEPA, financial implications are expectedly the highest in the first scenario indicated above. The Committee nevertheless recommends provisioning according to that scenario — in the interest of quality, as also equitable and adequate remuneration to the teacher who is to be the main instrument for providing the Right to Education. However, this Report will have to be examined in detail at the level of Central and State governments. This would include consultation with Finance Ministry and Planning Commission at the Central level, and with corresponding departments at the State level.

The very substantial financial implications of the recommended provisions may have to be borne almost entirely by the Central government as financial condition of nearly all State governments is unsatisfactory.

Current spending on Education amounts to about 4% of GDP, with half of it going to Elementary Education. Even if it is raised to 6% by 2006-07 (though such a sharp jump in one year would be difficult), and half of it continues to be earmarked for Elementary Education alone (instead of Elementary and Secondary sectors together, as mentioned in the policy pronouncements quoted in para 8.1), this would imply a possible additional outlay for Elementary Education to the tune of about 1% of GDP. On the other hand, financial implications of the recommended provisions of the Bill, for the six year period 2006-12, in the recommended scenario, amount to an average of Rs 72,678 Crore per annum, or about 1.5% of GDP over the six-year period - and even in the most conservative scenario, amount to an average of Rs 53,467 Crore p.a., or about 1.1% of GDP. Main reason for this would appear to be persistent under-provisioning for Elementary Education in the past, resulting in a large cumulative gap. Be that as it may, an exercise in prioritization of norms and phasing of expenditure would appear to be necessary, with consequential modifications in the provisions of the Bill, so that its financial implications remain within the realm of feasibility. CABE may like to take a view in this regard.

9. Some Related Issues which the Committee could not address

The Committee could not, due to paucity of time, address the following important aspects/ collateral issues connected with the Bill:

- Freedom of choice of parents belonging to minorities to educate their children in institutions covered by Articles 29 and 30 of the Constitution which may not necessarily conform to the provisions of the Right to Education Act.
- Amendments necessary in other related Acts, notably,
  - (i) The Child Labour (Prohibition and Regulation) Act, 1986, and
  - (ii) The National Council of Teacher Education Act, 1993.

Right to Education Bill 2005

An Act to put into effect the Right to Free and Compulsory Education to All Children in the Age Group of Six to Fourteen Years

PREAMBLE

Whereas the Preamble to the Constitution resolves to secure to all citizens of India JUSTICE, social, economic and political; LIBERTY of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship; EQUALITY of status and of opportunity; and to promote among them all FRATERNITY, assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity and integrity of the Nation;

And whereas, despite the original Article 45 of Directive Principles of the Constitution having made it the duty of the State to provide free and compulsory education to all children up to age fourteen in ten years (1960), the number of out of school children particularly from the disadvantaged groups and those engaged in labour, and those receiving poor quality education has remained very large;

And whereas, the 86th Constitutional Amendment Act 2002 has provided for free and compulsory education of all children in the age group of six to fourteen years as a Fundamental Right under Article 21A of the Constitution, in such manner as the State may, by law, determine;

And whereas the above Act also provides under Article 45 that the State shall endeavour to provide early childhood care and education for all children until they complete the age of six years;

And whereas the above Act further provides under Article 51-A (k) that it shall be a fundamental duty of every citizen of India who is a parent or guardian to provide opportunities for education to his child/ward between the age of six and fourteen years;

And whereas it is considered important and essential to create a humane and equitable society that incorporates the secular values and the ethnic, religious and cultural diversities of India;

And whereas it is recognized that the objectives of democracy, social justice, and equality can be achieved only through the provision of elementary education of equitable quality to all; and

And whereas it is also imperative to improve the present delivery system of elementary education by, inter alia, greater decentralization of its management, and making it sensitive to the needs of children, especially of those belonging to disadvantaged groups.

Be it enacted by Parliament in the fifty-sixth year of the Republic as follows:

CABE Committee on Free and Compulsory Education

The Right to Education Bill, 2005
Estimation of Financial Requirements<sup>1</sup>

1. The scope of the Bill in "real" terms is human capital building on a scale not attempted before. Broadly, the financial estimates visualize a sequence of increasing budget allocations over a given number of years (six in this exercise) that will keep pace with the real sequences of progress in the rate of growth of human capital keeping gender equity and equity between regions, classes, linguistic groups etc. in the forefront. The following target areas may be mentioned amongst others:

- (i) bringing out-of-school children to regular schools;
- (ii) induction of whole-time teachers (in the teacher-pupil ratio of 1:35 or 40);
- (iii) provision of high-quality of training for the inducted teachers;
- (iv) periodic and systematic retraining of all teachers;
- (v) provision of quality education based on a national curricular frame for all children,
- (vi) empowering girls through providing necessary facilities for attending school regularly; and
- (vii) improving the efficiency of school administration and the system of administration as a whole.

It is these sequences in real terms that will basically determine and justify the sequence of public expenditure allocated in the budgets on each of these counts (the list is not exhaustive). The regulatory role of the Elementary Education Commission envisaged in the Bill may prove to be absolutely crucial in this respect. In short, therefore, the budgetary exercise projected in this note should not be taken as static targeting in monetary terms of only the reception of the out-of-school children into the formal school system and incurring public expenditure on them under the selected list of items.

2. Financial Estimates for Implementation of the Bill: Alternative Scenarios

Based on the proposed Right to Education Bill 2005, four alternative scenarios have been developed, and accordingly financial estimations, including teacher salary, the cost of additional classrooms, toilets, drinking water, upgradation of school infrastructure and equipment, mainstreaming of out-of-school children, pre-school education, inclusive education, teacher development, incentives and school support materials, maintenance of school infrastructure and equipment, establishment of resource organizations such as DIETs, BRCs and CRCs, monitoring and evaluation, management and other related components, have been made. It is assumed that the Bill will commence from 2006-07. Accordingly, all financial estimations have been done from the year 2006-07. According to the Bill, all out-of-school children need to be mainstreamed in three years from the commencement of the Act. Therefore, while making enrolment projections in alternative scenarios, the number of out-of-school children has been brought down to zero from the year 2009-10. In all alternative scenarios, the financial estimates have been done for six years from 2006-07 to 2011-12, to correspond to the final year of the 11th Five Year Plan period. Component-wise financial estimates have been done separately for primary and upper primary levels of education.

Four alternative scenarios of financial requirements (from 2006-07 to 2011-12) for implementation of the Act have been considered. These alternative scenarios are based on mainly two parameters, i.e. Pupil-Teacher Ratio (PTR) and average teacher salary. In the financial estimation, mainly the norms of the Bill and the unit costs of various components as specified in the Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA) have been applied. In case of some of the components like one time grant for providing basic materials in the pre-school classes, provision of Kitchen and utensils in primary schools, salary of part-time art, health, and work education instructors, and pre-school instructor, the estimates have been made based on allocations made under different schemes of the MHRD. The estimated additional financial requirements (from 2006-07 to 2011-12) for implementation of the proposed bill in different alternative scenarios are given in Table 2.

Table 1: Alternative scenarios for estimation of financial implications for implementation of the proposed Bill 2005

Alternative Scenario	Pupil-Teacher Ratio	Average Teacher Salary
1 (A).	PTR = 35:1 both at Primary and Upper Primary Levels	Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 7965/- per month [Basis pay of Rs. (4500/- + 50% DP) + 18% DA] with an annual increase of Rs. 800/- (KVS pay scale of non-graduate trained teacher)
1 (B).	PTR = 35:1 both at Primary and Upper Primary Levels	Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 6,000/- per month (state level average teacher salary) with an increase of Rs. 600/-
2 (A).	PTR = 40:1 both at Primary and Upper Primary Levels	Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 7965/- per month [Basis pay of Rs. (4500/- + 50% DP) + 18% DA] with an annual increase of Rs. 800/- (KVS pay scale of non-graduate trained teacher)
2 (B).	PTR = 40:1 both at Primary and Upper Primary Levels	Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 6,000/- per month (state level average teacher salary) with an annual increase of Rs. 600/-

The basic differences between the four alternative scenarios are given in Table 1. The total estimated additional financial requirements (from 2006-07 to 2011-12) for implementation of the proposed Bill in different alternative scenarios are given in Table 2. Chart 1 gives the size of the estimated total cost in various scenarios to implement the Bill.

1 (A).	(i) PTR = 35:1 (ii) Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 7965/- per month (Annual increase of Rs. 800/-)	436459

2 (A).	(i) PTR = 40:1 (ii) Average Teacher Salary = Rs. 7965/- per month (Annual increase of Rs. 800/-)	346299

The details of the general assumptions, and specific norms and unit costs of various components and technical notes on the methodology of estimation have been given in the following sections.

3. General Framework for Estimation of Financial Requirement to Implement the Bill

The estimation of additional financial requirements for implementing the Bill from 2006-07 to 2011-12 are based on the following general assumptions and guidelines:

1. It is assumed that the child population in single ages from 6 to 3 years would grow during 2001 and 2011 at the same as it had grown during 1991 and 2001 censuses.
2. The additional schools required are estimated to ensure the provision of primary schools within one kilometer of every habitation and upper primary schools within three kilometers and at least one upper primary school for every two primary schools.
3. All children will attend regular schools of equivalent standards. All other forms of learning centres established over the last few years shall either come up to minimum standards prescribed in the Schedule 2005 or close down.
4. Residential bridge courses for the 10-14 age group out-of-school children will work in close cooperation of the formal school with a thrust on mainstreaming. Non-residential bridge courses will be provided to 7-9 age group out-of-school children. Additional support to out-of-school 7-9 age group children will be coordinated through the formal school to ensure that children join the formal school.
5. Special teacher development support would be required to bring many teachers/ para-teachers currently teaching in schools to minimum standards as prescribed by the NCTE and special provisions will be made to do so.
6. All support for children with special needs shall be met by the formal school system. For severely disabled children, home-based education would be provided.
7. Provision of teachers in schools will be in line with the norms and standards spelt out in the Schedule to the Right to Education Bill 2005.
8. The data on school facilities are mainly derived from the Seventh All India Educational Survey 2002 supplemented from other sources such as MHRD Annual Reports, DISE, PAB of SSA etc.
9. Submissions before the PAB of SSA and information from DISE would be used to work out the unmet need for CRCs, BRCs, DIETs/ Pre-service Teacher Education in states.
10. Number of existing teachers (as on 30th September 2002) have been taken from the 7th All India Educational Survey, and updated with developments thereafter, as reported in the PAB of SSA and Annual Reports of the MHRD.
11. Norms and unit costs have been worked out as per the current practice in states and provisions of the Right to Education Bill, 2005 and as per the Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan.
12. The non-salary components have been increased by 5 per cent each year to account for the cost of inflation.

<sup>2</sup> Based on the figures available, it is estimated that 2 lakh teachers at primary and 1.5 lakh teachers at upper primary level have been appointed each year in 2003-4 and 2004-05. It is assumed that the same number of teachers have been appointed in the year 2005-06 as well (see Technical Notes 4.2 in page 16). The additional teachers were estimated after subtracting the appointments (approximately 10.5 lakhs) made during 2003-04 to 2005-06.

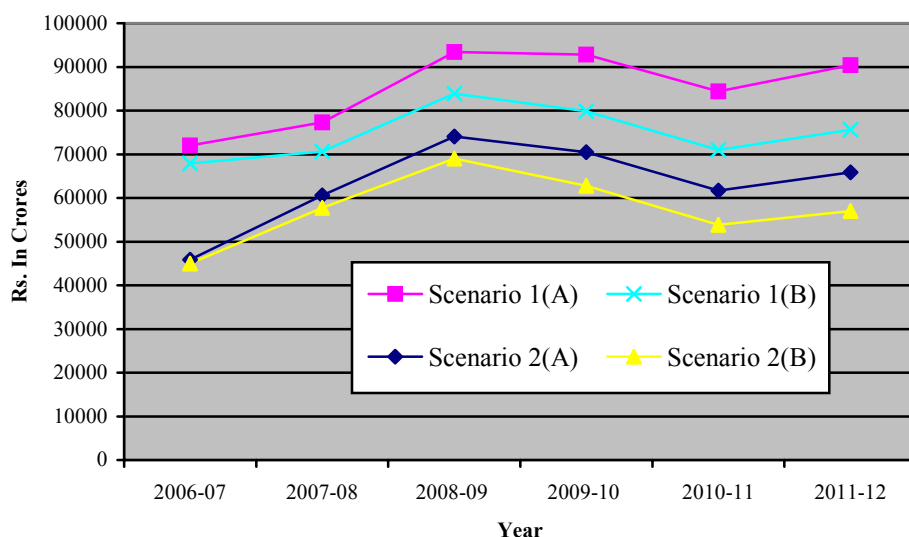

<sup>3</sup> It has been assumed that in 2006-07, all 10.61 or 2.55 lakhs additional teachers required as the case may be are appointed. This will accommodate the backlog of teacher requirement of previous years. Figures of additional teachers required shown against subsequent years 2007-08 to 2011-12, therefore, arise from the additional enrolment occurring in that year only.

<sup>4</sup> The annual growth rate of GDP from 1993-94 to 2003-04 in current prices is estimated as 12.2% (Economic Survey, 2004-05). This is estimated by fitting a semi-log linear trend regression. This is used to project the GDP at current prices till 2011-12.

6. Technical Notes on Population and Enrolment Projection and Financial Estimation

6.1 Projection of Child Population and Enrolment

1. Prior to the projection of the enrolment (6-10 and 11-13 age groups), the single age population has been estimated for 1991 and 2001 census years applying the Sprague Multiplier Software. The average annual growth rates of single age population have been estimated separately for males and females during 1991-2001.
2. Based on the average annual growth rate, single age population has been projected up to the year 2011. The relevant single age projected population figures have been added to find out population in age groups 6-10 and 11-13 from 2002-03 to 2011-12.
3. It has been assumed that the underage children in Grade I will be reduced to zero by 2007-08 with the stabilization of the entry age, and all underage children coming to school will be accommodated in pre-school classes.
4. The share of overage children in the total enrolment at primary and upper primary level will go down consistently during 2003-4 and 2011-12, and even in the year 2011-12, the GER will be more than 100% because of presence of overage children due to repetition and mainstreaming of out-of-school children.
5. Primary and upper primary level gross enrolment as given in the 7th AIES, 2002-03 has been used, and the % share of under and overage children (separately for boys and girls) as found in DISE for 2002-03 and 2003-04 has been applied to find out the net enrolment at primary level (6-10 age group) and upper primary level (11-13 age group) for the year 2002-03.
6. Projected population in age groups 6-10 and 11-13 in 2009-10 has been taken as total net enrolment respectively at primary and upper primary level in 2009-10 for boys and girls separately. Accordingly net enrolment was interpolated from 2003-04 to 2008-09.
7. The share of under and over age children in the total enrolment in 2002-03 and 2003-04 has been taken from DISE. Based on the trends in the % share of overage children in total enrolment in primary and upper primary levels, a declining trend in the % share of overage children in total enrolment has been assumed.
8. Applying the share of over and under age children in the total enrolment, the net enrolment in primary level (6-10 age group) and in upper primary level (11-13 age group) has been adjusted to estimate the gross enrolment (i.e. including under and overage children) at primary and upper primary level from 2003-04 to 2010-11.
9. From 2010-11 to 2011-12, total age group population (6-10 and 11-13) has been adjusted by applying the share of overage children to project the gross enrolment at primary and upper primary levels respectively.

10. The gross enrolment at primary and upper primary levels form the basis for estimation of major components such as teachers, teaching learning materials, incentives, classrooms, etc.

6.2 Estimation of Additional Teachers' Salary

1. Enrolment data are available by stages and by institutions from Selected Educational Statistics as well as AIES for the year 2002-03. The enrolment data by stages consists of enrolment corresponding to each level of education in all schools, viz. primary, upper primary, high and higher secondary schools. Enrolment data by institutions consists of the enrolment at a particular level of institution irrespective of the stage for which the children are enrolled. The data on teachers are available only by institutions and not by stages. Therefore, teachers data by stages have been estimated with the limited information available for an earlier period in the following way. Based on the sixth AIES, the proportion of enrolment at primary and upper primary by different institutions – upper primary, high and higher secondary schools, were computed. According to the sixth AIES, 63 per cent of enrolment in upper primary institutions, 18 per cent in high schools, 10 per cent in higher secondary schools were found to be at lower primary stage. The corresponding proportions for upper primary stages were 37 %, 47% and 33%, respectively. These proportions were used to apportion the teachers working in upper primary, high and higher secondary schools to primary and upper primary stages. These proportions may have to be revised as and when relevant data from seventh AIES are available.
2. According to MHRD Annual Reports, PAB of SSA and sources from MHRD, 2 lakh teachers at primary and 1.5 lakh teachers at upper primary level have been appointed each year in 2003-4 and 2004-05. Accordingly it is assumed the same number of teachers might have been appointed in the year 2005-06 as well.
3. It is assumed that 30 per cent of all new teachers appointed during the period 2003-04 to 2005-06 are para teachers. Their salary levels were brought to the regular teachers' scales in each scenario by assuming Rs.2,500 as the para teachers' present salary.
4. Additional teachers required to mainstream out-of-school children has been estimated separately and their salary levels were taken as per the salary of regular teachers.
5. Three part-time art, health, physical and work education instructors have been provided for every three upper primary schools on the assumption that these schools will share the instructors. These instructors would be paid an honorarium of Rs. 3000/- per month.
6. All pre-school classes have been provided separate instructors at a monthly honorarium of Rs. 4000/-.
7. The financial estimates include the salary of cumulative additional teachers from 2006-07 to 2011-12.

6.3 Additional Schooling Facilities and Civil Work

1. The existing schools as reported in the 7th AIES has been taken as base year figure, and based on the number of un-served habitations, it has been proposed to establish 1,20,000/- new primary schools and 90,000 new upper primary schools during the period 2006-07 to 2009-10.
2. No separate financial estimate for constructing new schools has been made, as the cost of construction of these schools is included in the cost of additional classrooms.
3. Percentage share of schools having no drinking water and toilet facilities as found in DISE data for 2003-04 has been applied to find out the number of schools to be provided this facility.
4. While making the provision of pre-school facility in primary schools, it has been estimated that around 1,80,000 schools have Anganwadis either located in the school or closer to it. The rest of the existing and new primary schools have been given pre-primary facility.
5. Based on the 7th AIES, number of schools having no pucca building has been estimated and every such school has been provided two classrooms.
6. 5,00,000 (3 lakh primary and 2 lakh upper primary schools) have been given one-time grant @ Rs. 20,000/- for up-gradation of facility so as to bring them at par with other schools as specified in the Schedule.

6.4 School Equipment and Grants, including Grants to SMCs

1. 25% existing schools and all new schools have been considered for provision of school equipment/furniture.
2. 90% of existing and all new UP schools have been considered for provision of computers.
3. 75% of existing and all new primary schools have been considered for Kitchen facility for Mid-day Meals.
4. 75% of existing and all new primary schools have been provided utensils for Mid-Day Meals.
5. All existing and new pre-school classes have been provided one-time grant for teaching learning material and equipment.

6.5 Teacher Grants

All regular teachers in primary and upper primary schools and instructors pre-primary classes have been taken for estimation of annual teacher grants.

6.6 Mainstreaming Out-of-school Children

1. It has been assumed that the Bill will commence from April 2006. As per the Bill, at the primary level, all 7-9 age group out-of-school children (from 2006-07 to 2008-09) will be mainstreamed by 2009-10.

2. At the upper primary level, all out-of-school children in the age group 11-13 plus the share of 10-year-olds in the out-of-school children in the age group 6-10 (from 2006-07 to 2008-09) will be mainstreamed by 2009-10.
3. Accordingly, the share of 7-9 age group children in the total projected population (age group 6-10) has been estimated, and the same has been applied to the out-of-school children at primary level to get the number of OSC in 7-9 age group. The OSC thus estimated has been used for financial estimates for non-residential bridge course.
4. The share of 10-year old children in the total projected population (age group 6-10) has been estimated, and the same has been applied to the out-of-school children at primary level to get the number of 10-year-old out-of-school children. The OSC (10-year old + 11-13 age group) thus estimated has been used for financial estimates for residential bridge course. The number of 10-year old OSC is then added to the out-of-school children at upper primary level (11-13 age group).
5. It has been assumed that mainstreaming of the out-of-school children will start from 2007-08 and continue up to 2009-10, and bridge courses for mainstreaming the OSC will be organized from 2006-07 to 2008-09..
6. Given the huge number, mainstreaming of OSC will swell the size of the elementary education system at least for four to five years, beginning from 2007-08. Thereafter, the size of enrolment in the elementary education will come down and stabilize. At this stage, the system will have the problem of surplus teachers, and related provisions. To overcome this problem, the teacher requirements for mainstreaming the OSC has been estimated separately, and the estimated teachers have been assumed to be project teachers for 3 years, providing them with all the benefits of a regular teacher.

6.7 Integrated Education for the Disabled

2.7% of gross enrolment has been taken for estimating the number of disabled children, who can be provided integrated education. 0.3% of the gross enrolment has been taken for estimating the number of severely disabled children for home-based education.

6.8 Incentives/entitlements under 'free education' to Children

1. 75% of the gross enrolment has been taken for estimating the cost of free textbooks, workbook, notebooks and stationery.
2. 50% of the gross enrolment has been taken for estimating the cost of two sets of free school uniforms.
3. Any other incentives/entitlements under 'free education' which an appropriate government may prescribe under section 2 (1) (m) of the Bill have not been costed here.

6.9 In-service Teacher Training and Provisions for Quality Improvement

1. 50 more DIETs are to be established; 5% of existing BRCs and CRCs has been taken as new BRCs and CRCs to be opened from 2006-07

2. As per MHRD Sources at least 50% of professional, technical and support staff (i.e. about 18 positions per DIET) are lying vacant in existing DIETS and necessary financial requirements to fill these vacancies have made.
3. All new DIET's will have 37 staff including technical and support staff.
4. All new BRCs are to be given 5 staff members each; and all new CRCs will be given one staff each.
5. All existing teachers will be given 20 days training every year.
6. Training to 20% of existing teachers who are considered to be untrained or under-trained will be provided at estimated cost of Rs. 10000/- per teacher in 2006-07 to upgrade their skills.
7. 20 days training has to be given to 80% of existing teachers in 2006-07 and all teachers from 2007-08.
8. 30 days induction training is to be provided to all newly appointed teachers.
9. 1000 teacher education institutions (non-DIET) will be established to provide pre-service teacher training.
10. A lump sum amount per annum has to be given to each district to promote distance education for teacher training.

7.10 Management Cost

1. 6% of total recurring cost has been taken as management cost per annum.
2. A lump sum of 10 crore per annum has been provided for meeting the expenditure of the National Elementary Education Commission.
