GENERAL SURVEY

Constitutionally education is a State subject but the Government of India is still required to perform three important functions viz; planning, guiding and co-ordinating the educational activities of the country as a whole. Besides, it is directly responsible for the administration and maintenance of Central universities and institutions of national importance as well as promotion and propagation of Hindi, education of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, maintenance and development of higher education, scientific and technical research, dissemination of educational information and international relationship in the field of education and culture. These functions were continued to be performed by the Central Government with usual momentum. In this task, the Central Government were continued to be assisted by expert bodies such as University Grants Commission, Council of Scientific & Industrial Research, National Council of Educational Research & Training, Central Hindi Directorate and Indian Council of Cultural Relations. Also the State Governments continued to receive grants-in-aid for the implementation of various development programmes launched by them.

8. The school feeding programme for children in the elementary schools was in operation in 13 States and 5 Union Territories and approximately 19 lakhs children were covered by this programme during the year. Further, in order to improve the quality of text-books almost all the State Governments had nationalised the production of text-books and even in some States the distribution and sale of text-books was taken over by the Government. At the national level, the National Council of Educational Research and Training continued to prepare model text-books for different levels of school education.

Secondary Education

9. A crash-programme for the improvement of science education, which was launched in 1964-65 continued during the year. Under this programme, 11 States had established State Units of Science Education. Steps were taken to strengthen these Units in order to bring them to the level of full-fledged State Institute of Science Education. Besides, State Evaluation Units were established in all the States except Madras and Nagaland. The centrally sponsored scheme of establishment of Bureau of Educational and Vocational Guidance in States continued during the year and these Bureaus had been established in all the States except Madras and Nagaland.

In view of the policy adopted by the University Grants Commission that no new university be established without very careful examination of all relevant facts and reasonable assurances about the availability of funds, competent staff and other basic pre-requisites, there has been no increase in the number of Statutory Universities during 1967-68. However, the proposal of Uttar Pradesh Government for the establishment of a University at Nainital (Kumaon University) was agreed to by the Commission on the recommendations of its Committee which considered the matter in all its relevant aspects; but even the establishment of this University was postponed to some future date. The Commission also considered a proposal from the Government of Kerala for the establishment of two Universities at Calicut and Ernakulam and referred it to the Standing Committee on New Universities. However, the State Government could not find adequate resources for setting up the two universities during the year and the programme was phased to be taken up from the next year. The Commission also considered the proposal for the establishment of a University in Garhwal, Uttar Pradesh and another at Dayalbagh, Agra, but did not agree to the proposal. The Commission agreed with the recommendations of the Committee that instead of establishing a university in Himachal Pradesh, two university centres for post-graduate teaching might be developed, one at Solan for Agricultural education and the other at Simla for Science, Humanities and Social Sciences. This was in conformity with the Commission's policy regarding the development of centres of post-graduate education, under the auspices of the University concerned and in collaboration with the colleges located in the neighbourhood. # NUMBER OF INSTITUTIONS BY TYPE 1967-68

40. STATISTICS

(i) Institutions :

The number of all recognised institutions in the country increased from 7,58,777 in the year 1966-67 to 7,93,819 in the year 1967-68, showing an increase of 35,042 or 4.6 per cent. Out of the total, 5,63,783 were meant for boys and 2,30,036 for girls. The institutions for boys showed an increase of 15,300 whereas those for girls showed an increase of 19,742 during the year. The bigger increase in the case of girls' institutions, was, however, due to the increase of about nineteen thousand social and adult education centres for girls as compared to an increase of 8,228 such centres for boys. Table 1.01 gives the comparative picture of the number of institutions of various types during the two years 1966-67 and 1967-68. It can be discerned from the table that barring the under-graduate colleges for general and professional education, the pre-primary schools and the schools for vocational and professional education as well as those for other education, especially those meant for oriental studies which showed a small decrease, all other type of institutions either reported an increase or continued to be maintaining the same number. The number of middle/Senior basic schools and primary/Junior basic schools showed a substantial increase of more than 3,000 each, while the social educational centres showed an increase of 27,158.

Enrolment

The total number of pupils in all the recognised institutions increased from 737 lakhs to 766 lakhs (504 lakh boys and 262 lakh girls). This gives an increase of 4.0 percent, almost keeping pace with the percentage increase in the number of institutions which stood at 4.6 percent. Although as many as 88.7 percent institutions were located in the rural areas, only 69.6 percent of the total enrolment was studying in such institutions. Table 1.02 gives detailed comparative data of enrolment by types of institutions whereas table 1.03 gives details of enrolment by stages of education. From the latter table, it can be inferred that the percentage increase was the highest in the case of under-graduate diploma in general education followed by under-graduate professional technical education stages (50.4 and 22.1 percent). However, in physical terms, the highest numerical increase was reported at the primary school stage (15,69,535), followed by high/higher secondary stage (5,70,689) and the middle stage (2,76,822) in the case of general education; other more significant numerical increase was noticeable in case of other education school standard courses (2,10,028) and by Graduate stage general education enrolment of B.A./B.Sc. (Hons) courses (1,31,578). While educational facilities for the school going children of the age group 6-11 years were 78.2 per cent, the corresponding percentages for the age groups 11-14 and 14-17, were 33.0 and 17.7 respectively. In the previous year these percentages were 77.4, 31.7 and 17.1 respectively. Table No. 1.04 depicts the enrolment by classes and percentage of educational facilities by different states in the country.

The total number of teachers increased from 22.54 lakhs in 1966-67 to 23.27 lakhs in 1967-68, thus showing an increase of 73,607 or by more than 3 percent. The women teachers constituted only 22.4 per cent of the total number of teachers as compared to 22.1 per cent in the previous year. In the case of schools for other education, the number of teachers decreased by 4,747 (from 25,470 to 20,723). In all other cases the number of teachers increased. Further details of the number of teachers by type of institutions are given in Table No. 1.05

Expenditure

The total expenditure on education (on recognised institutions) increased from Rs. 698 crores in 1966-67 to Rs. 811 crores in 1967-68, thus showing an increase of Rs. 113 crores or 16.3 percent. This increase compares favourably with the 12.2 per cent increase during the previous year. The Government met 71.9 percent of the total expenditure while contributions from the local board, the universities, the fees and the endowments and other sources was 5.5, 1.0, 14.4 and 7.2 percent respectively. An increase in the contribution from all the sources except fees was significant on percentage basis. The highest percentage increase was in the case of endowments and other sources (22.5%), followed by an increase of 18.4 percent in the case of university funds and 17.7 per cent in the case of Government funds. The lowest percentage increase of 7.0 percent was noticed in the case of fees.

The direct expenditure constituted 82.5 percent of the total expenditure, as compared to 81.5 percent during the previous year, while the indirect expenditure, which constituted 17.5 percent of the total expenditure was distributed as—Direction and Inspection (2.1%), buildings (4.9%), hostels (0.9%), scholarships (5.5%), equipments (2.0%) and other items (2.1%). The biggest slice of the total direct expenditure continued to be consumed by the high/higher secondary schools and it marginally increased from 28.4 percent in 1966-67 to 28.8 percent during the year 1967-68. Next followed the primary/junior basic schools with 25.5 percent and middle/senior basic schools with 17.1 percent of the total. There was no substantial change in the sourcewise distribution of indirect expenditure on education. Table 1.06 gives source wise distribution of total expenditure on education, while table No. 1.07 gives the details of expenditure by heads of charges for the years 1966-67 and 1967-68.
