INTRODUCTION

“EDUCATION IN INDIA” is brought out by this Ministry annually. From the year 1966-67 to which this present edition relates, the pattern of this publication has been changed in pursuance of the recommendations of the Standing Advisory Committee on Educational Statistics. Unlike in previous years, Volume I and Volume II have been merged into one Volume consisting of two parts. Part I relates to a brief general survey of the important developments in the field of education—both at the Centre and in the States, Part II gives detailed State-wise Statistical Tables relating to all aspects of education on which data is annually collected by the Ministry of Education. This step has been taken to meet the requirements of the users of educational statistics, particularly planners and research workers, who require State-wise break-up of the published data.

The Ministry of Education take this opportunity to thank all the Directorates of Education in various States and Territories and other educational bodies at the Centre and in the State who have supplied the material required for this publication.

Suggestion for further improvements in the publication may please be addressed to the Director (Planning and Statistics) in this Ministry.

PART I—GENERAL SURVEY

GENERAL SURVEY

Although education is a State subject under the Constitution of India, Government of India has to perform three important functions viz., to plan, to guide and to co-ordinate the educational activities of the country. The Constitution also makes the Union Government directly responsible for the administration and maintenance of Central Universities, for all Institutions of National Importance, for the enrichment, promotion and propagation of Hindi, for the co-ordination and maintenance of standards of Higher Education, for Scientific and Technological Research and for Education in International relationship which includes inter alia the welfare of Indian students abroad and Cultural and Educational Agreements with other countries. A Directive Principle of the Constitution enjoins on the State to provide free and compulsory education to the children upto 14 years of age. The Centre has also a special responsibility for the education of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes and for the collection and dissemination of educational information for the country as a whole in respect of programmes of national or international nature in the fields of education, science and culture. These obligations are discharged by the Ministry of Education with the help of autonomous Central Organisations, like University Grants Commission, the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, the National Council of Educational Research and Training, the Central Hindi Directorate, the Indian Council of Cultural Relations and similar other bodies. Further, the major part of the responsibilities of the Union Government in the State-sector of education are discharged through a broad-based system of grants-in-aid to the respective State Governments for developing their educational programmes.

2. The Education Commission, which was set up in 1964 with a view to advising the government on the national pattern of education and on principles and policies for the development of education at all stages etc., submitted its Report on June 29, 1966. This Report of the Education Commission has opened a new epoch for the reconstruction of the educational system of this country. Both the Central and the State Governments actively considered the implementation of the important recommendations of the Commission.

3. During the year under report, the meeting of Education Ministers of States was held at Madras to discuss inter alia the formulation of the Fourth Five-Year Plan, improvements in the methods of teaching and development of science education at school stage, adoption of a comprehensive programme of social education and an approach to the programme of technical education to be included in the Fourth Plan.

4. Due to some political and economic reasons, the formulation of Fourth five-Year Plan which was to start from the year under report was postponed and in its place the Annual Plan was formulated for the year 1966-67. An outlay of Rs. 98.67 crores was approved by the Planning Commission for the education-sector—Rs. 53.00 crores in the State-sector and Rs. 45.67 crores in the Central-sector.

5. Another important event in the field of education was the launching of the Second All India Educational Survey by N.C.E.R.T. in order to study the provision of educational facilities available in the country. The survey was decided to be carried out in the three phases. The first phase related to revision of data of the First All India Educational Survey and the collection of data for the preparation of district development plans for education. The work relating to data collection started in all the States and Union Territories during the year under report and completed in respect of some Union Territories.

6. The tempo of expansion at all stages of education was maintained during the year under review. While the enrolment in case of higher education went up from 13.31 lakhs in 1965-66 to 15.02 lakhs in 1966-67, it increased from 61.56 lakhs to 64.92 lakhs, in case of High/Higher Secondary School stage, from 109.77 lakhs to 119.13 lakhs in case of middle stage and from 489.13 lakhs to 505.30 lakhs in case of primary stage.

7. A brief account of the main activities of development in various fields of education in the Central and State sectors and statistical progress during the year 1966-67 is given in the following paragraphs:

CENTRAL-SECTOR

Elementary Education

8. The Sixth National Seminar on Elementary Education was held at Kodai-Kanal (Tamil Nadu) from 25th April to 1st May, 1966. Besides recommending for an early achievement of the goal of universal education, the following important recommendations were made by the Seminar:—

- (i) Encouragement of pre-school education, particularly in rural areas;

- (ii) Enactment of Compulsory Primary Education Acts by States which have not yet done, so far;
- (iii) Provision of free or subsidized mid-day meal, free or subsidized books and stationery and free uniforms;
- (iv) Raising of per capita expenditure and lowering of teacher-pupil ratio in areas inhabited by scheduled tribes;
- (v) Provision of suitable part-time courses for children, who, due to the economic conditions of their parents, cannot attend regular schools;
- (vi) Training of local women as school mothers, wherever lady teachers are not available;
- (vii) Opening of separate primary schools for girls where specially needed, etc., and
- (viii) Not holding any formal promotion examination in the first and second year of schooling.

9. The mid-day meals programme which was started in 1962-63 with the help of international organisations, like CARE, UNICEF and Catholic Relief Services, continued during the year and as many as 90 lakh children were covered under the scheme. The expenditure on the programme, in so far as States are concerned, was Rs. 178 lakhs in 1966-67.

10. In order to improve the quality of education, specially at the elementary stage, State Institutes of Education were established particularly to organise Inservice training courses for inspecting staff and teaching staff of the training institutions. This is a Centrally Sponsored Scheme and during the year, an amount of Rs. 16.19 lakhs was released to the State governments for the purpose. The State Institute at Delhi started its work in 1966-67 and steps were taken during the year to start one in Manipur also.

11. In order to clear the backlog of untrained teachers in elementary schools, it was proposed to establish Correspondence Courses in 10 States where the number of untrained teachers was comparatively large. The Scheme was to take effect from 1967-68 but preliminary steps were taken to implement the scheme during the year.

Secondary Education

12. The Government of India in the Ministry of Education passed on the administrative control of the central schools which were specially started for the benefit of children and wards of government employees of transferable categories to the autonomous body called the Central School Organisation (since renamed as Kendriya Vidyalaya Sanghathan) with effect from 1st April, 1966. There were 86 central schools working at the beginning of the year and 26 more started during the year, bringing the total to 112. A sum of Rs. 230 lakhs was spent during the year on central schools.

Tibetan School Society

13. It was set up for providing education to Tibetan refugee children. It had by 1966-67 seven residential schools, 11 day schools and 1 educational-cum-vocational institute with a revised budget estimate of Rs. 43 lakhs.

14. Under a Special Crash Programme for the improvement of education at the secondary level, an assistance on 100 per cent basis (outside the State Plan ceiling) was given to the States for the strengthening of science laboratories of schools at secondary level and for the training of teachers employed therein. The total cost on this account came to Rs. 208.46 lakhs during the year.

15. For reforming the Secondary education work had been started during the Second Plan with the establishment of State Evaluation Units at the Centre. During the Third Plan, such units were established in different states. In order to give a further fillip to this programme, the Union Government introduced a Centrally Sponsored Scheme with 100 per cent Central Assistance for setting up new units as well as for expanding the work of the existing units. Upto the year under review, such units had been established in all the States except Jammu & Kashmir, Madras and Nagaland and the total amount sanctioned to the state Governments for this purpose was Rs. 2 lakhs.

16. Under the Scheme of establishment of Bureau of Educational and Vocational Guidance, financial assistance was given to the State governments on 100 per cent basis. During the year under review 2 lakhs had been sanctioned to the state governments on this account.

Education of Girls and Women

17. The education of girls and women progressed at all stages as a result of several steps taken by the Government during the three plan periods. All the Special Plan programmes for girls education continued during the Annual plan of 1966-67. The National Council for Women Education continued to act as an advisory agency on various matters relating to women education. A number of seminars and other programmes relating to the education of girls were organised in different States.

Training and Welfare of Teachers

18. In order to clear the backlog of untrained teachers in elementary schools (estimated to be 4 lakhs at the end of the Third Plan), it was proposed to establish Correspondence courses in 10 States, where the number of untrained teachers is comparatively large. Although the scheme was to be implemented from 1967-68, preliminary steps were taken during the year in regard to its implementation. Madras

In addition to the distribution of milk at the mid-day meals programme, the supply of free of cost uniforms to the poor children was undertaken and it covered about 10 lakhs of people during the year.

In order to improve the quality of education in Primary Schools, 100 trained teachers were appointed as Headmasters of complete higher elementary schools and senior basic schools having a strength of 400 and above students. Also 100 Physical Training Instructors were sanctioned for this purpose.

Maharashtra

For improvement of the quality of education, the major steps taken were the formation of the Maharashtra State Board of Secondary Education, the establishment of the Text-book Bureau and the State Board of Teachers Education Unit, the State Institute of English and that of the Vidya Niketan. Further, the Government appointed a committee on teacher education to review the pattern and syllabus of Teacher Education Programmes in the State which submitted its report in May, 1966.

Mysore

To increase the output of trained teachers, an evening in-service training course was started at the Government Training College, Mysore, during the year.

During the year, secondary education was made free to all pupils irrespective of parental income and the awards were withdrawn in respect of poverty-cum-progress scholarships to all students except those belonging to Scheduled Castes and Schedules Tribes.

The Mysore Secondary Education Examination Act, 1966 came into effect whereby the control of dissemination unit working under the department was now vested in an autonomous board.

Orissa

Two more Universities were instituted in Orissa, one at Sambalpur and the other at Berhampur.

Diversified courses were introduced in some institutions and facilities for teacher training were expanded and improved. The Government sanctioned 4,000 posts of Primary teachers as additional hands for newly opened schools.

Punjab

With the reorganisation of the State, the newly formed Punjab State paid greater attention to the qualitative improvement of education in different spheres. To improve the educational standards, the experiment of holding terminal examinations of students studying in IV/V class by the Headmasters of Middle/High/Higher Secondary schools in the neighbourhood was intensified during the year under review. Further, with a view to improve the examination system—public examinations as well as internal examinations, a State Evaluation Unit has been started with headquarters at Chandigarh. The private agencies made a larger and laudable contribution to the spread of higher education in the State. An institute of Advanced Punjabi studies was planned to be started at the Punjabi University, integrating Shri Guru Granth Sahib, other Punjab Historical Studies, development and translation of Punjabi, Persian, Arabic Speech and Drama and adding those of Punjabi literary studies.

Uttar Pradesh

With the addition of two Universities—one at Meerut and another at Kanpur—there were in all 11 Universities and 205 Degree colleges in the State and the teaching of Sanskrit was encouraged through the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya by providing for special scales of pay to the teachers of that University.

Arrangements were made for the In-service training of teachers through correspondence courses at the State Government Training Institute. The H.T.C. syllabus was revised and raised to the level of B.T.C. with minimum qualifications required for admission remaining to be the High School.

Himachal Pradesh

With the reorganisation of Punjab, many new hill areas were merged with Himachal Pradesh and there were about 4,474 educational institutions in the new State with a total enrolment of more than 5 lakh students and 13 per cent of the total State Budget was earmarked for education during the year.

Pondicherry

During the year, the school of Arts and Crafts in Pondicherry was reorganised into the Junior Technical School with an intake of 60.

STATISTICS

Institutions

37. The total number of recognised institutions in the country increased from 7,27,262 in 1965-66 to 7,58,777 in 1966-67, thus showing an increase of only 4.3 per cent. Of these, 5,48,483 institutions were meant for boys, which showed an increase of only 2,459 (or 0.5%) over the previous year and 2,10,294 for girls which showed an increase of 29,056 (or over 16%) over the previous year. However, this bigger increase in the case of girls' institutions is accounted for mainly by the opening of 27,861 new social (Adult) education Centres for girls which in the case of boy's institutions had shown a decrease of 8,385. Table 1.01 gives the comparative picture of the number of institutions of various types during 1966-67 and 1965-66. It is seen that the number of all types of institutions showed an increase except in case of schools for vocational and professional education and schools for other education including oriental studies which showed small decreases. While the number of colleges for general education increased by 151 to 1,687 in 1966-67, the number of high/higher secondary schools increased from 27,477 in 1965-66 to 30,445 in 1966-67. Similarly the number of middle/senior basic /junior high schools increased from 75,798 to 79,616 and primary/junior basic schools from 3,91,064 to 3,96,170.

Enrolment

38. The total number of pupils in all the institutions put together increased from 705.55 lakhs to 737.00 lakhs (488.13 lakh boys and 248.87 lakh girls). This gives an increase of 4.5 per cent, almost keeping pace with the increase in the number of institutions. As against 88.7 per cent institutions located in the rural areas, the percentage of pupils studying in them in the rural areas came only 70.8 per cent of the total. Table 1.02 gives detailed comparative data of enrolment by type of institutions.

Educational facilities for the school-going children of the age group 6 to 11 years was to the extent of 77.4 per cent whereas that for the age group 11 to 14 years was 31.7 per cent and for 14 to 17 years it was 171 per cent. The percentage of University stage General Education enrolment to population in the age-group of 17 to 23 years was only 2.7. Table Nos 1.03 and 1.04 give details of enrolment by stages and percentage of educational facilities by states respectively.

Teachers

39. The total number of teachers increased from 21,32,928 in 1965-66 to 22,53,606 in 1966-67, showing an increase of 1,20,678 or 5.7 per cent. The female teachers constituted 22.1 per cent of the total number of teachers in 1966-67, as against 21.6 per cent in the previous year. Further details of the number of teachers by type of institutions are given in Table No. 1.05.

Expenditure

40. The total direct expenditure on recognised institutions increased from Rs. 622.02 crores in 1965-66 to Rs. 697.88 crores in 1966-67, giving an increase of 12.2 per cent. The Government met 71.0 per cent of this expenditure while the contribution from the Local Board Funds, the University funds, Fees and Endowments was 5.5, 0.9, 15.7 and 6.9 per cent respectively. An increase was discernible in case of all other sources except Local Board Funds on percentage basis and the highest percentage increase (15.7%) was in the case of endowments and other sources, followed by an increase of 13.3 per cent in the case of Government Funds which contribute the major share. The direct expenditure constituted 81.5 per cent of the total expenditure. The Indirect Expenditure, which constituted 18.5 per cent of the total was distributed as: Direction and Inspection (2.1%), Buildings (5.1%), Hostels (0.7%), Scholarships (6.1%), Equipments (2.2%) and other items (2.3%). The biggest share of the total direct expenditure went to the High/Higher Secondary Schools (23.1%), followed by that of Primary/Junior Basic Schools (20.7%) and Middle/ Senior Basic Schools (13.8%) of the total expenditure as a whole. There was no substantial change in the source-wise distribution of indirect expenditure on education. Table No. 1.06 gives source-wise distribution of expenditure and Table No. 1.07 gives the details of expenditure by heads of charges for the years 1965-66 and 1966-67.
