GENERAL
INTRODUCTION
( TABLES 1.1-1.5 )

1. 1. INTRODUCTION

Nagaland, the sixteenth State of Indian Union, was inaugurated on the 1st December, 1963.

The administrative 'Unit' known as the Naga Hills and Tuensang Area (NHTA) came into being on the 1st December, 1957. This was renamed as Nagaland on the 18th February, 1961, as a first step towards the constitution of a full-fledged State. On this day, an Executive Council, consisting of five members with the Chief Executive Councillor as its Chairman and an Interim Body of 42 members was constituted. This Executive Council functioned as a 'Defacto' Council of Ministers for Nagaland in the discharge of their responsibilities and the Interim Body functioned as a 'Defacto' Legislature. The five-man Executive Council was sworn in on the 16th March, 1961 at the Raj Bhavan in Shillong. The Union Government introduced a bill, sometime in August, 1962, incorporating certain special provisions stating 'interalia' that the Governor of Assam will also be the Governor for Nagaland and that the jurisdiction of the Assam High Court would continue. Besides, the Governor would have special responsibility for the maintenance of Law and order during the transitional period or so long as disturbances continue in the State. It was stated in this bill that no Act or Law passed by the Union Parliament affecting the following subjects shall have legal force in Nagaland unless these are specifically made applicable to the State by a majority of votes in the State Legislative Assembly :—

1. Religious or Social Practices.
2. Customary Naga Laws and procedures.
3. Civil and Criminal Justice in so far as these concern decisions according to the Naga Customary Law. The existing laws relating to administration of civil and criminal justice as provided in the Rules for the Administration of Justice and Police in the Naga Hills District shall continue to be in force.

4. The ownership and transfer of land and its resources.

PHYSICAL FEATURE

The State of Nagaland lies between 25°6' and 27°4' north of equator and between the longitudinal lines 93°20' E and 95°15' E. The altitude of Kohima is 1,463 metres (4,800 ft) above the sea level. The State is bounded by Assam in the North and West, by Burma and Arunachal Pradesh in the East and Manipur in the South and runs more or less parallel to the left bank of the Brahmaputra. The topography is very severe—full of hill ranges which break into a wide chaos of spurs and ridges. The altitude varies between 194 metres (636 ft) and 3,048 metres (10,000 ft) Most of the nine-hundred and odd Villages stand at 1 to 2 thousand metres high as it is very typical of the Nagas to build their houses on the hill-tops and at higher elevations. The highest peak in the State, Saramati in Tuensang District is 3,840 metres (12,598 ft) high.

POPULATION

The population of Nagaland, according to the 1981 Census is 7,73,281. Out of this 84.46 percent of the population is rural. The average density of population is 47 per Square Kilometre. Workers constitute 45.79 percent of the total population of the State. 41.99% of the population is literate

LIVELIHOOD PATTERN

The most important activity is Agriculture which occupies 72.36 percent of the working force. Besides Agriculture, people engage themselves in weaving, blacksmithy and other handicrafts to meet their daily requirements during off-season but not much for commercial purposes. There is no appreciable manufacturing activity in the State.

THE PEOPLE

The population of Nagaland is almost entirely tribal. There are many separate tribes and sub-tribes amongst the Nagas with their own distinctive language and cultural features. Kohima District is the home of the Angamis, Zeliangs, Rengmas and a small group of the Kukis, Semas and some other minor groups. Phek District is the home of the Chakhesangs, the Pochuris and a group of the Sangtams and others. The Angamis and the Chakhesangs practise terraced cultivation and double-cropping on large scale.

Mokokchung District is the home of the Aos, Wokha District of the Lothas and Zunheboto District of the Semas. These people practise chiefly Jhum cultivation. However, they have started terraced cultivation in recent times and the State Govt. is encouraging them to start terraced cultivation by giving loans and subsidies towards the schemes.

Tuensang District is the home of the Changs, the Sangtams, the Khiemungams, the Yimchungers, the Phoms, the Semas, and some other minor groups. Mon District is the home of the Konyaks. These people also chiefly practise Jhum cultivation. Adoption of terraced cultivation is now encouraged in these areas also by the State Government.

In Nagaland, Tribal or Village Councils regulate the social life. The regulation of 1945 gives powers to the Tribal Councils to try criminal as well as civil cases and impose fines. So long as the parties belong to the same tract, all civil suits are tried by the Council. The punishment inflicted by the Council is according to their customary law, though a limit has been put to avoid heavy punishments.
